A TEMPERANCE CRUSADE RECORDS OF STEAMERS COHEN ON THE WARPATH BENNETT LED DUAL LIFE ABANDONED BY ATTORNEY FOUNDERS' DAY PROGRAM

W. C. T. U. AND MINISTERS' UNION.

Dr. Chapman of the California Anti-Saloon League is coming—Littlefield's Bill will be boomed.

Honolulu is on the eve of a temperance crusade. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and the Pastoral Union, will each have a hand in it. At the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held yesterday afternoon at Central Union church, it was announced that Miss Jessie Ackerman and Miss Ada Murcutt, "Round-The-World Missionaries" of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union would arrive here from the Coast by the Coptic and would remain for a week or ten days. Arrangements were at the same time made for holding a series of temperance meetings under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

These meetings are to be in a sort of preparatory and preparatory to the advent of Dr. Chapman of Oakland of the California Anti-Saloon League who will arrive here early in January and begin a series of meetings and inaugurate a work which it is hoped will amount to a successful crusade against the liquor traffic.

Miss Ackerman has been here before and is well known in the Islands. Miss Murcutt, whose home is in Australia, comes here for the first time. Both have reputations as able and efficient lecturers.

It is a part of the plans for the crusade which Dr. Chapman is to inaugurate to arouse sentiment in favor of the bill which Congressman Littlefield of Maine has introduced, prohibiting the sale of liquor and opium to aboriginal natives of the Pacific Islands. On this subject the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has not expressed its position, but it is known that some members of the local society do not approve the measure, doubting the principle of discrimination involved in it, and likewise the possibility of enforcing it.

Mrs. Henry Waterhouse was at yesterday's meeting, appointed Superintendent of the Flower Mission, and Mrs. W. D. Westervelt, Superintendent of the Department of Temperance Literature.

NEW MILL COMPANY.

Will Take No More Building Contracts.

The Enterprise mill has been purchased by a private concern which will shortly incorporate and conduct the business under the name of the Pacific Mill Company. Emmett May and W. H. G. Arnesmann appear as the purchasers but they are representing their associates as well.

The intention is to make a marked departure in mill work. Hereafter the new concern will not take any building contracts so as not to compete with the contractors. An up to date mill will be run however, and all character of legitimate work done. A specialty will be made of the native woods, the concern having already a good sized stock on hand. Furniture of kon wood will also be manufactured to order. The officers of the company will be elected by the first of the year when the concern will start to work in earnest.

CHURCH PARSONAGE.

Meeting of Central Union Called to Discuss It.

Central Union church is considering the matter of securing a parsonage. The matter will be brought up for discussion this evening at a church meeting to be called immediately after the regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

More or less thought and consideration has been given to the subject by members and friends of the church, though the church itself has never taken any stand on the subject. Several members of the church have interested themselves in the matter. A number of pieces of property are available for such a purpose. Some of them are of property upon which to build, and one at least is a piece of property already suitably built upon.

At the meeting this evening, if the church decides that it is desirable to proceed with securing a parsonage at this time, it is probable a committee will be appointed to take up the matter.

SPEEDY TRIPS TO AND FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

All Records in the Pacific Claimed for The China In Spite of Contrary Showing.

Since the Sierra went on the run between the coast and here, her sailing qualities and speed have been discussed. There has also been much discussion about the records and capabilities of the other vessels of the Pacific Mail, O. & O. and Toyo Kisen Kaisha lines, which have been competing in the matter of records for some time.

Thurs's annual for 1901, just issued, gives to the Nippon Maru the best record between here and San Francisco, on account of her trip last January, when she made the distance in five days and two hours. The China and Coptic have the other good records, the China having a trip of 5 days, 7 hours and one of 5 days and 8 hours for her credit, while the Coptic is down for a trip in 5 days and 20 hours.

In spite of apparent showings the other way, it is claimed for the China that she has the record. Captain Seabury is quoted as expressing confidence that she has made the trip in five days and four hours. The China counts from dock to dock, according to time shown to have expired at the journey's end. The Nippon Maru's count was from pilot to pilot and for actual time expired during the journey. This gives her the advantage of about fifteen minutes a day change in time which the China included in her reckonings and of two or three hours during which the pilots had the vessel.

The China has every record in the Pacific say her admirers, and Captain Seabury is quoted as expressing confidence that she can hold the records. The Maru boats lately have been hurrying in their trips between oriental ports and they are piling up records, but it is claimed for the China that she can beat them when she tries. Lately the China has not been pushed.

The record for the trip from San Francisco to Honolulu is held by the China. The America Maru is a close second and the old Australia has the third best record. In the Pacific the China has all the records so far listed.

New steamers are now coming into the service and some new records are looked for. If a new record is made it will be by the Captain Seabury will try to beat it, and the new vessels are likely to make new records when they try.

AWAITING THE SIERRA.

Many People Expecting the New Liner.

The new steamship Sierra was anxiously waited for all day yesterday and all the previous night, as well as last night and there was much surprise that she did not show up at least this morning. According to her set time for departure she was beginning her 7th day last night, and as she was supposed to be coming along at her best pace, there was a good deal of speculation as to the cause of the delay.

The general opinion was that she had to wait for the British mails. The company's contract for carrying mails to the Colonies provides that they must be certain that the mails are on the schedule. In the past years this has caused some considerable waits, but not recently. The snow plows now used have proved able, during the past couple of years, to push most of the trains through on time and delays have been few.

The company is well reimbursed for delay, when it is caused by waiting for the mail. The British government pays a round sum for every day lost. At the same time it demands a good forfeit from the company if a steamer is behind time after having been able to start on time. The contract also provides for a bonus to be given to any steamer that runs ahead of the schedule, so that the Oceanic steamers for the Colonies always have an interest in making good time.

THE SAID COFFEE SPOILED BY OFFICIALS.

Packages were Opened and Cups and Saucers Ruthlessly Stolen Therefrom. A Suit is Coming.

J. C. Cohen, broker and business manager of the Orpheum, is more than hot in the collar against the customs bureau. He has a grievance that seems a bit unusual and the matter will likely be aired in the courts. Mr. Cohen was down to see High Sheriff Brown this morning about it, and the next step will probably be a suit.

Nearly two years ago Cohen imported a lot of coffee. There were really 4049 pounds in the shipment although it was billed and entered at much less than that. The custom house people had him summoned on the charge of smuggling. Cohen fought the case, and won. In other words, he proved his innocence in any matter of a larger shipment than his bills called for. But the coffee was seized at the time of the original trouble and has since been held in custody.

After Cohen had won the case Attorney-General Dole wrote an order for the delivery of the coffee to him. It was turned over, but in a miserable plight. Of the attorneys, Mr. Cohen told High Sheriff Brown that:

"All of the packages were opened more than a year and a half ago, and the coffee is ruined. In each package of five pounds was a nice cup and saucer, which made the coffee more valuable. These cups and saucers were nearly all taken out, if you please. Thus the drawing card for the coffee was destroyed and the coffee itself by reason of being opened and left open is no longer of any value."

Cohen claims that the coffee cost 85 cents a package which would make the cost of the total shipment $688.50. It is this amount he wants in good U. S. gold coin from somebody. Mr. Cohen says he is now willing and always has been willing to pay the duty on the larger amount of coffee but will be blanked if he will on coffee that has been spoiled by officials of the defunct Hawaiian Republic. The suit will probably be leveled at the Hawaiian Republic, the successor of the Republic.

MR. AZBILL'S STATEMENT

THINKS HE WAS MISJUDGED BY ATTORNEYS.

At the Same Time He Sticks to Stand That Three Men are Falsely Imprisoned—Appeal to Consul.

The committee of the Protective League to whom Rev. Azbill's story of injustice to Japanese in Kona was referred, held a meeting yesterday afternoon. Rev. Azbill retold his story, but the committee was not sufficiently impressed to take any action.

Rev. Azbill has written the following:

EDITOR THE STAR: I beg to say that the report of the Japanese case on which you and certain legal gentlemen comment, was misleading. If you had taken the report of the Bulletin or of the Advertiser you would have observed that I did not vouch for the story which I said had been told to me. It is a matter for regret that those gentlemen did not make allowance for that particular style of reporting. Please give them my love, and tell them that, after further inquiry, without any reflection on the court or the attorneys, I am of opinion, as are the Japanese of Kona and of Honolulu, that three innocent men are in prison working out their sentence as the result of miscarriage of justice in their cases.

Yours, W. K. AZBILL.

After inditing the above Rev. Mr. Azbill called at the Star office and said: "The judge and attorneys in this matter seem to construe the statements made before the Protective League as coming from me personally, whereas I was particular to say that it came from others. My information was and is from Japanese sources. Mr. Katsunuma is a very reliable man and he has, after the hardest of work in investigating the matter, given me facts that convince me of the innocence of the three men now in prison. He tells me the truth—like all the evidence was taken in the case. Several witnesses were shut out in the hurry of the hearing. I believe those statements and shall follow the matter up to the end."

"When Mr. Davis says 'Mr. Azbill lies' he had better first consult with Mr. Towt, a reliable sugar planter of Kona, and the reliable Japanese of Kona and Honolulu. He will find that the injustice done three men of the party in question is well known among them."

"It is our intention to interest the Japanese consul in the matter and to get a square deal for the men I have mentioned. There will probably be developments very soon in the matter."

MOWERA ARRIVES.

The steamship Mowera, Captain Hemming arrived at one o'clock today from the Colonies. She left Sydney on the 3rd and had a fair trip here. She will leave for Victoria at ten o'clock tonight.

SCOPE COMMITTEE.

The "plans" committee of the Republican charter commission met at the office of George A. Davis this morning but did no business as two of the members desired to be present in the Supreme Court at the opening. All of the members were in attendance. It was decided to meet again at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, and in the meantime the members will figure on a course of procedure and "an of a charter. No form of a charter was presented at the meeting so that it is not supposed that any member has one up his sleeve.

HE WAS A VERY HEAVY DRINKER.

Tried on One Occasion to Commit Suicide in the Ocean View Villa. Other Testimony.

The coroner and a jury are still at work seeking to unravel the mystery surrounding the death of Miss Schneider and Scout Bennett. A number of threads of evidence have been discovered but they have not been followed to definite conclusions. There seems to have been no particular effort made to trace Bennett's movements on the night preceding Miss Schneider's death, though his personality and clothing were so striking that it would seem as though his movements at any given time could be traced with comparative ease. Many of the most famous criminal cases of late years on the mainland have been worked out to demonstrated conclusions from beginnings that were much less promising or readily worked out, than the circumstances which surround this mystery. In the Durrant case, for instance, the police accounted for almost every movement of Durrant's from some days before the murder until some days afterwards.

During the course of the inquest yesterday Mrs. Paul Neumann mentioned having noticed some white powder on the shawl which was found around the head of Miss Schneider. It was thought that this powder might prove to be morphine so it was given to Dr. Shorey the government chemist, for analysis. He inspected the powder today under a microscope and made chemical tests of it. He discovered that the stuff was not morphine at all, but contained some lime. He accounted for its presence by saying that perhaps the woman brushed against white wash and some of the stuff had stuck to her shawl.

Another fact concerning the habits of Miss Schneider, which shows her to have been of a peculiar disposition, has been learned of her residence at the Waikiki Inn. It was her custom almost every night to put a little shawl about her head and go to Kapiolani park about 10 o'clock and sit on the benches until as late as 2 o'clock in the morning. The day after returning to the Inn she would go in the ocean to bathe. She complained of being unable to sleep. Kaal one of the members of Captain Berger's band remembers having seen her sitting alone in the park at late hours of the night.

Inquiry at all of the drug stores in the city failed to find any trace of Bennett or Miss Schneider having secured morphine. On the contrary the statement was made at every place that none was sold to either of them. And it would have been impossible for them to have secured the drug without a physician's prescription and such authorization had not been presented.

Where and by whom the drug could have been secured is another important feature of the case. It was said at all the stores, that people desiring to use morphine can secure it in quantity by sending to the Coast and receiving it by mail. If Bennett used morphine constantly as Ottmann testified he did, it is likely that the scout must have either gotten it surreptitiously from the coast or else at the government dispensary at Camp McChesney. By mail, if Bennett used the drug was not secured by him at the post. It is of course possible that the woman may have sent for the drug but if Bennett used morphine steadily it is far more likely that the poison was secured by her from him.

The inquest into the death of Miss Clara Schneider was begun yesterday and will be concluded today. A number of witnesses were examined but only one of them was able to throw any additional light upon the habits of Bennett. He was W. J. Ottmann, the proprietor of the Ocean View Villa on the Waikiki road. According to Ottmann, Bennett was not only a heavy drinker but a continual one and he and Ottmann have visited saloon after saloon together.

Bennett was a very quiet man and seldom talked of his private affairs. He did tell the witness that he had an income of $100 from the government and $191 more a month from property in the east. Bennett used to go to the house of the scout on a number of times and on many occasions Ottmann had seen the scout greatly under the influence of liquor. Bennett seldom showed the effects of the liquor to a casual observer however. The police had visited Ottmann's place but the scout had been at one time sent a dozen bottles of wine to the Ocean View and had drank them there. Bennett did not pay his visits occasionally to the Ocean View, but went there almost every night. So far as the scout's gambling was concerned, Ottmann did not know positively of any such habit, but he was sure that Bennett did bet money on the horse races. Once somebody tried to induce Bennett to play poker at the Ottmann place but the scout had refused. He had told Ottmann of playing in the Hawaiian hotel.

Bennett used to complain of pains in his head, caused by an old wound. He told Ottmann that he was in the habit of using morphine and whiskey to allay his suffering. Just where he secured the morphine Bennett did not say but he stated that the whiskey was supplied at the army post. The pain annoyed Bennett so much that the witness thought it had affected his brain. On several occasions Bennett would order coffee and a sandwich at the resort of Ottmann and after partaking of it go away and return a few minutes later and again ask for coffee. He would be informed that he had already had coffee and that he had refused. He had told Ottmann of playing in the Hawaiian hotel.

On the night of November 5, Bennett was considerably under the influence of liquor and attempted to deliver an address at Prince David's luncheon. He was jeered by the crowd and this seemed to cut him to the quick, for he was very depressed over the occurrence and talked to Ottmann of wanting to quit living. Bennett declared that he had lived long enough anyhow. Ottmann feared that the man might attempt suicide so he persuaded him to go to the Ocean View. Bennett called for a glass of soda water, which was given him and to the surprise of the crowd he went to bed.

CASE IN SUPREME COURT LET SLIDE.

Lawyers Will Not Answer for Defense On Appeal—Rev. Mr. Azbill Might Look Into This.

Chief Justice Frear and Justice Perry today signed a decision in the case of Malani, et al. vs. Alapai, et al., regarding a deed, reversing the decision of the judge of the Fourth Circuit sustaining the demurrer and dismissing the bill, and remanding the case back for further action. This case is peculiar for the reason that it was absolutely deserted in the Supreme court by the attorneys for defendants. Mr. Maydwell refuses absolutely to have anything to do with it and even neglected to appear in court. Gardner K. Wilder, the other attorney, appeared in court but refused to defend the case. Carl S. Smith, attorney for plaintiff appellant, insisted upon a hearing and the case was allowed. He made a twenty minutes talk and submitted the matter. The decision is short, its whole intent being reversal of the decision of the lower court.

Suit has been brought by the Hawaiian Trust & Investment Co. against Annie Barton, Helen A. Dunning and Gear, Lansing & Co., to have partition made of a piece of land on Hotel street near the Cook house. The plaintiff claims to an undivided one-fourth interest in the property and that Annie Barton and Helen Dunning are owners in fee simple of which Gear, Lansing & Co. are the lessees. Defendants have refused to have the land partitioned. E. D. Tenney and J. R. Galt, president and secretary respectively of the company, have signed the petition.

POLICE COURT CASES

JUDGE WILCOX DEALS OUT SOME JUSTICE.

Two Drunks Who Got in Twine During the Same Jags—Small Boys Under Arrests.

Judge Wilcox had a long list of small cases this morning, drunks coming first. Harry Miller and McPherson both reappeared on the list of drunks under very similar circumstances. Miller forfeited $6 yesterday and showed up some hours after the forfeit was declared. He was somewhat tipsy as to the time of day and it was not long before he was under arrest again on another charge of being drunk.

This morning he explained that it was a champagne drunk, but the judge said that was no excuse, but only made matters worse, for there was no jag worse than a champagne jag. However, in consideration of the $6 forfeit, his honor told Miller he might go. Miller began to put up a talk to get his back. McPherson was arrested yesterday and he put up his back and got out before he had quite sobered up. He was soon in again and was not in condition to appear this morning.

William Mason was charged with heedless driving. He said that he had driven a horse before he had a license, being a sailor, and that the animal insisted upon going on a sidewalk. He was given a day to find witnesses.

A small boy named S. Kaweweha was up for disobeying the commands of his parents or guardians, but it came very doubtful whether he had any. Judge Kaulukou offered to take the youngster for a time and look after him until his folks could be heard from on another island, and John went with Kaulukou. Another small boy, who gave his only name as John, was up for truancy and was turned over to his father for treatment.

SAILORS DESERT.

A Boat Was Stolen From The Bark Bossuet.

A boat was stolen last night from the French bark Bossuet and two men deserted in her. They met two others who got away some time ago, at the Nuuanu bridge, where the boat was left and all four men are thought to be together.

The latest place for deserting seamen is in the colony of Portuguese beyond Moanalua, and the police are having great trouble in finding them. Captain Flint is on the trail of the men who left the Bossuet and will probably land them.

A new captain for the Bossuet is expected to arrive on the Sierra, to take the place of the man whose sickness caused the stop here. The Bossuet will then continue her journey to the Sound. While here her masts and spars have been painted white and her bottom has had a new coat, and she now presents a very handsome appearance.

KAMEHAMEHA PUPILS HONOR MRS. BISHOP.

Grave of Their Patron Saint Decorated Amidst Touching Ceremonies—Exercises at the Schools.

This is Founders' Day at Kamehameha schools and it is being observed as extensively as on any such days of the past. It is the great day of the year with the schools established by and with the money of the late Mrs. Bernice Pauahi Bishop. From morning until late at night is given over to diversions and ceremonies appropriate to such an occasion.

Early this morning five car loads of pupils went to the Maunaloa in Nuuanu valley had the usual services and decorated the grave of Mrs. Bishop. The cars went via King, Alakea, Bereania School and Nuuanu streets, returning the same way about 11 o'clock. The girls decorated the grave, the boys of the manual and training departments standing at attention, uncovered, during the proceedings. "Only remembered by the good we have done" was then sung by both schools in chorus. The Kamehameha Girls' School call was then given, the boys standing as before at attention.

This ended the ceremonies at the grave and the cars were once more taken on and the return made to the schools. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the luncheon in the manual department began. All of the pupils, teachers and a number of people from town were there. The luncheon lasted until 2 o'clock. The spread was very elaborate and was duly enjoyed by all present.

One of the principal events of the day will occur at 4:30 this afternoon when Prof. Theodore Richards, formerly principal of the schools will address all of the departments in the Bishop Memorial chapel. The classes will be assembled together there. There will first be the regularayer and song service and then the address. Music will be supplied by the three schools.
